News - 111-10-22 - Metropolis - Since about 3 days all communication arrays of The Wild Bunch are offline. Technicians try to solve the problem as soon as possible. First analysis point to a hardware failure within the central communication links. This disaster has cutted off the communication link to the outer space base of the wild bunch as well as all access to contracts and intel files. Internals within TWB belive that the current situation is maybe an act of sabotage by business rivals.

Barry Wild - eldar of The Wild Bunch statement about this: "At the moment i would not like comment whats happend before - i cannot aprove that we where sabotaged by hostiles yet - but - the current shutdown of our communication links have a massive impact on our market agility."
